Your role is essential

To ensure that the funds it collects can be redistributed to creators, Copibec needs bibliographic information about the works copied. The education sector’s role in compiling that information is essential. Every year, a number of schools are selected at random to participate in the data collection process. All the teachers and teaching professionals in those schools are required to use the designated form to identify all the works they copy during the school year. This data collection process was agreed on by a committee representing the education sector, Copibec and the Ministère.
Copibec represents authors and publishers

Books, magazines and newspapers are protected under the Copyright Act. To manage their reproduction rights for those works, authors and publishers have opted for a collective licensing system administered by Copibec, a not-for-profit agency that authorizes copying and ensures that creators are fairly compensated.

Copying agreement with education sector

On behalf of authors and publishers, Copibec (the Quebec copyright licensing agency) has concluded a copying agreement with the Quebec Ministère de l’Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport. The agreement authorizes educational institutions at the preschool, elementary and high school levels to make photocopies within specified limits.

In consideration for the copies made, the Ministère pays Copibec annual compensation so that the authors and publishers of the works copied in schools can receive payment for the use of their creative work.

Under the copying agreement, teachers and administrative personnel are required to comply with the photocopying guidelines and provide the data needed by Copibec.

Photocopying guidelines

- The number of pages reproduced from a copyrighted work cannot exceed 25 pages or 10% of the total number of pages, whichever is less.
- With the exception of copying done for exams, tests or evaluation purposes, copies must not be inserted into, joined or attached to other documents or permanently bound in coursepacks or anthologies.
- Copies of instructional material must not be used to create textbooks or exercise books.
- Bibliographic references must be indicated on each excerpt copied.
- Certain works cannot be copied. The exclusions list is available on the Copibec website at www.copibec.qc.ca.

Protect the creative environment!

Respect copyright.
Copibec represents authors and publishers

Books, magazines and newspapers are protected under the Copyright Act. To manage their reproduction rights for those works, authors and publishers have opted for a collective licensing system administered by Copibec, a not-for-profit agency that authorizes copying and ensures that creators are fairly compensated.

Copying agreement with education sector

On behalf of authors and publishers, Copibec (the Quebec copyright licensing agency) has concluded a copying agreement with the Quebec Ministère de l’Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport. The agreement authorizes educational institutions at the pre-school, elementary and high school levels to make photocopies within specified limits.

In consideration for the copies made, the Ministère pays Copibec annual compensation so that the authors and publishers of the works copied in schools can receive payment for the use of their creative work.

Under the copying agreement, teachers and administrative personnel are required to comply with the photocopying guidelines and provide the data needed by Copibec.
Copibec represents authors and publishers

Books, magazines and newspapers are protected under the Copyright Act. To manage their reproduction rights for those works, authors and publishers have opted for a collective licensing system administered by Copibec, a not-for-profit agency that authorizes copying and ensures that creators are fairly compensated.

Copying agreement with education sector

On behalf of authors and publishers, Copibec (the Quebec copyright licensing agency) has concluded a copying agreement with the Quebec Ministère de l’Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport. The agreement authorizes educational institutions at the pre-school, elementary and high school levels to make photocopies within specified limits.

In consideration for the copies made, the Ministère pays Copibec annual compensation so that the authors and publishers of the works copied in schools can receive payment for the use of their creative work.

Under the copying agreement, teachers and administrative personnel are required to comply with the photocopying guidelines and provide the data needed by Copibec.

Protect the creative environment!

Respect copyright.

Photocopying guidelines

- The number of pages reproduced from a copyrighted work cannot exceed 25 pages or 10% of the total number of pages, whichever is less.
- With the exception of copying done for exams, tests or evaluation purposes, copies must not be inserted into, joined or attached to other documents or permanently bound in coursepacks or anthologies.
- Copies of instructional material must not be used to create textbooks or exercise books.
- Bibliographic references must be indicated on each excerpt copied.
- Certain works cannot be copied. The exclusions list is available on the Copibec website at www.copibec.qc.ca.
Your role is essential

To ensure that the funds it collects can be redistributed to creators, Copibec needs bibliographic information about the works copied. The education sector’s role in compiling that information is essential. Every year, a number of schools are selected at random to participate in the data collection process. All the teachers and teaching professionals in those schools are required to use the designated form to identify all the works they copy during the school year. This data collection process was agreed on by a committee representing the education sector, Copibec and the Ministère.

606 Cathcart St., Suite 810
Montreal (Quebec) Canada  H3B 1K9

Phone:
514 288-1664 or 1 800 717-2022
Fax:
514 288-1669

Email:
licences@copibec.qc.ca
Website:
www.copibec.qc.ca

Protect the creative environment!

Make sure your photocopying respects authors’ and publishers’ rights
Your role is essential

To ensure that the funds it collects can be redistributed to creators, Copibec needs bibliographic information about the works copied. The education sector’s role in compiling that information is essential. Every year, a number of schools are selected at random to participate in the data collection process. All the teachers and teaching professionals in those schools are required to use the designated form to identify all the works they copy during the school year. This data collection process was agreed on by a committee representing the education sector, Copibec and the Ministère.

Copibec

606 Cathcart St., Suite 810
Montreal (Quebec) Canada  H3B 1K9

Phone: 514 288-1664 or 1 800 717-2022
Fax: 514 288-1669

Email: licences@copibec.qc.ca
Website: www.copibec.qc.ca